Resolving Conflict: Stilling the Storms of Life (Just Between Us) Jill Briscoe

A Note from Jill Briscoe

Dear Friends,

How do you handle the storms of life? How do I? Do we stride over them like Jesus did, or do we sink under them like Peter (Matt.14:30)? There's the conflict of church splits, or elders not supporting you. There's the conflict in the ministry home when children act up and don't follow the Lord. The winds of adversity can buffet us pretty badly, just as they buffeted the disciples' little boat (v. 24).

But then Jesus comes to us, just when we're swamped and going down and says cheerfully, "Take courage, it is I, don't be afraid." Then we have a choice to walk over it all in triumph with Jesus or look at the storm instead of the Savior and drown. As soon as we cry for help, we'll feel His hand holding us. He'll catch us--you'll see--and then He'll ask us, "Why did you doubt?" Conflict Gives us a chance to know "His hand is not too shortened that it cannot save."

We trust that this book on Resolving Conflict will help you to remember, despite the winds and waves of panic within you, to obey Him.

Trusting Him,

Jill Briscoe
